

Thomas Bungler

Margaret Frisbie

Jessica Merkel

Kathryn DeWeese

For more than 60 years, the law firm of Bungler & Robertson has been a committed member of the Bloomington community and south central Indiana. We're here for every one of life's moments, whether it's planning a legacy for children and grandchildren, fulfilling the dream of starting or passing on a business, or resolving a difficult conflict.

Today we have a team of 14 attorneys who concentrate in specific practice areas. These practice areas include Trust & Estate Planning and Administration, Elder Law, Family Law, and Charitable Organizations. Our attorneys also provide counsel and advocacy in Insurance, Civil Litigation, Real Estate, Business Organizations, Immigration & Naturalization, Health Care, and School Law, as well as extensive Mediation Services. Because of the breadth of our experience and knowledge, we are well suited to providing comprehensive legal counsel that meets the range of clients' needs.

Our attorneys who concentrate in Trust and Estate Planning and Elder Law understand that our clients' families, home and business, and the causes closest to their hearts are likely what are most important to them. We understand that they want to leave a legacy that protects and cares for these important people, business and causes after they are gone, and at Bungler & Robertson, we help our clients do so with respect, compassion and integrity.

When we provide estate planning and elder law, we work with each client through five essential steps:

Education – we make sure clients have a solid understanding of the issues and options available before making decisions.

Discovery – we endeavor to find out what each client values most, what needs must be met, and what each client's ultimate goals are for that client's plan.

Design – together with each client, we develop a plan that carries out each client’s decided intentions not only for inheritances but also for possible incapacity and for wishes regarding care at the end of life.

Implementation – we are firm believers in the importance of working with each client’s other professional advisors in order to ensure that the legal plan is consistent with other planning and advice, and is implemented using the multiple legal tools and documents available to achieve the goals of the client’s plan.

Maintenance – as changes occur in the client’s family, finances, chosen causes and the law, we work with each client to modify the plan and develop the legal documentation needed to implement the changes.

When the unfortunate time of death has come, our attorneys understand that experiencing the death of a loved one is one of the most difficult events in life and can lead to great stress and confusion. Managing the details of an estate or trust involves unfamiliar tasks and unsettling actions. It requires navigating the complexity of legal ways in which inheritances can occur and be structured as well as the demands of creditors, needs to be able to pay ongoing costs and expenses, and difficulties of disposing of personal property. Our attorneys understand the emotional strain on families and heirs, coupled with the challenges to executors and trustees, and we strive to make the administration of an estate or trust as simple as possible for all in a professional and sensitive manner.

At Bunger & Robertson, we respect, we care, we serve, with the strong commitment to our clients and our community that we have had the past 60 years and plan to continue into the long-term future.

You can reach our attorneys who provide trust and estate planning, trust and estate administration, and related legal services by calling 812-332-9295, through our website at <https://www.lawbr.com/> and as follows:

Thomas (Tom) Bunger
tbunger@lawbr.com

Margaret (Peggy) Frisbie
mfrisbie@lawbr.com

Jessica Merkel
jmerkel@lawbr.com

Kathryn (Kate) DeWeese
kdeweese@lawbr.com